DITR Guide Services

DITR was formed originally to help families realize that there is opportunity to have access to higher level education and playing opportunities. Many people do not realize how accessible both talent wise and financially it can be to have the opportunity for your player. There are no guarantees but with a little talent, good grades, and a little guiding, there are many opportunities. It is then just up to the player and the family if that is the right choice.

We are a guide service, not an advisor, and help guide you through the process: frank conversations and guidance. We do not do the work, we help figure it out, decipher, and put your player's best foot forward. If the player will not do the work now, they will not do it at school, and you have to question the importance of the financial, time and family sacrifices the family has to make for the player. These opportunities are limited for a reason, it takes sacrifice & dedication for the player and the family that is worth it in the end because the opportunities open up many future choices for your player.

But they are available because #URBetRthan1A
